REPORT.

It is with feelings of special interest and thankfulness that the Committee submit their Report for the past year.

The great event of the year has been the extinction of slavery in the United States of America. Four millions of our coloured brethren, who, a few years ago, seemed doomed to hopeless bondage, have suddenly become free men! He who brings good out of evil has overruled the terrible civil war to the accomplishment of His own wise and loving purposes.

The Committee are full of joy at the result. They congratulate the friends of the Slave, on both sides of the Atlantic, on this happy and unexpected end of their labours; but they desire to give all the thanks and all the praise to Him whose hand alone has opened the prison doors, and who has bidden the oppressed go free.

The name of the Mission, "Fugitive Slave Mission," has thus become a thing of the past. No more fugitive slaves can possibly cross our Canadian borders, to find refuge and protection there. And many may think that the Mission itself is, in consequence, no longer needed. But is this the case? The Committee would earnestly protest against any such conclusion being drawn.

The field of labour is still the same. Why, then, are the labourers to be withdrawn? The numbers brought under the influence of the Society's agents are not, indeed, now likely to increase, but at least they show no signs of diminishing. The work of elevating an ignorant and degraded population is not the work of a day. If ignorance and degradation still largely characterize (as they do) the tens of thousands of coloured settlers in our North-American Colonies, that ignorance and degradation must still be met by the One Remedy, the saving and elevating influences of the Gospel of Jesus. In short, the numbers and necessities of these poor people are as great, while their means of helping themselves are as small, as ever. Not a motive could be assigned for entering on this labour of love, in years gone by, which cannot also be assigned for continuing it now. So far from drawing our hands back at the present moment, it seems as though we were specially called upon to show our sympathy with our brethren in the United States, and to assist them, in some small degree, in the great task they have before them of educating and elevating a race which has so long suffered from the debasing influences of slavery.

But let those be heard who live on the spot, and who are themselves the best judges of the need of continued efforts in this field.

Archdeacon Hellmuth, in a letter recently received, thus writes :—

"London, Canada West, July 1, 1865.

"We had a Committee Meeting this morning, when the Fugitive or Coloured Mission subject was fully and freely discussed.

"I am confident, from all I can gather, that this is not the time to relax our efforts on behalf of the poor coloured people in Canada. Those residing in Canada prefer British rule to any other; and, though there exists no longer any necessity for the negro to seek in Canada an asylum of safety from actual slavery, yet, from the political condition of the United States, the coloured man is safer and happier, for the present at least, in Canada than in the United States. I trust that those at home who have hitherto taken an interest in our Coloured Mission will not only continue but increase their Christian efforts to help this work of God. Our field is vast, and our agents very few to compass the work."

The Committee also desire particular attention to a letter of their long-tried and faithful Agent, the Rev. J. Hurst, who goes at greater length into the question, gives his reasons for considering that the Mission ought not to be abandoned, and even pleads (it will be seen) for an extension of the efforts hitherto made in his own parish :—

"The thought has frequently struck me, since the termination of the American war, that those persons in England who have aided the Fugitive Slave Mission may begin to think, that, slavery being abolished, and no more Fugitive Slaves coming into this country, the Fugitive Slave Mission will be no longer needed. I once thought the same myself; and if a person living on the spot could think so, much more may those living far away. But it now appears that there is no probability of any great change. The changes in the States have not yet caused many to leave Windsor; and, so far as I can see, will not greatly reduce their numbers. Much has been said about the Americans granting to the negroes equal privileges with the whites, and if this ever be the case, many will go away; but of such a state of things there is no prospect; and the negro will not hastily leave a country where his rights are respected, for one where the case is quite different. The northern people do not like the negro, and they are less kindly treated by them than by the Canadians. In Canada they have liberty; and, after being settled some time, they can make a living, and feel that they have the protection of the laws to the same extent as the white man. The negro is not slow to appreciate this; and, as might be expected, those who think, feel disposed to let well alone. That there will be great changes, and that many will go and come between the two countries, I have no doubt; but that there will be any great reduction in the numbers, for some time to come, is in no way probable. There will be a change, but it will be a change which will further the operations of those who really wish for the coloured man's welfare. Slavery caused a constant influx of low and daring characters, who corrupted many others. These persons would not come to Canada, had they dared to remain in the States; and now they will find a field there more suited to their habits than they can here. We shall then lose those persons, and their evil influence, and be able to do more than ever before to make the others settle down into quiet, moral, and religions habits. What I have always felt, and often said, in my Reports, is still a firm conviction on my mind—that, had I a small church for them, and the assistance of a good Lay-Agent, there could be a good congregation of settled Church people found in Windsor, and, in connexion therewith, a thriving Sunday-school. This is the only way a real work can be done. They will never be gathered by desultory labour, but by regularly sustained efforts, in close connexion with a Church and Sunday-schools devoted to them. Nor is this a thing impossible. A small, frame church, so built as to be capable of enlargement, if necessary, would cost but a trifle, and it would serve both for Church and Sunday-school. I have not given up all hope of this, and, should the Lord spare me to come again to my native land, with the permission of the Society, I will try to accomplish it."

The Rev. T. Hughes's evidence is to the same effect:—

"The mere destruction of slavery will not elevate the coloured race. An enormous evil is certainly destroyed, but it leaves the coloured people degraded and despised, without political rights, excluded from churches, denied admission into public schools, shut out of all the higher walks of life, and even tradesmen's workshops closed against them, and none but the meanest employments open to their pursuit. And, most assuredly, so long as such formidable obstacles stand in the way of the black man's progress, he will have strong claims upon more than the sympathies of the Christian philanthropist. But it should ever be remembered that, while one object of this Mission is to promote the advancement of the coloured race in this world, the paramount object is to bring them under the influence of a pure Gospel, that they may 'know the truth, that the truth may make them free.' So long, therefore, as a large coloured population is to be found in Canada, will the necessity exist for missionary operations among them."

The Committee trust that such testimony will be considered decisive; and they earnestly call on their friends, not only not to relax their efforts, but to increase and extend them. The staff hitherto employed has been lamentably disproportionate to the work that has to be done. The Committee desire at once to put several additional Lay-Agents in the field. Will not those, whose Christian sympathy has so long been shown to the down-trodden sons and daughters of Africa, enable them to do this?

The Income for the past year has been .	£618	15	7
The Expenditure	527	10	5

The income remains at about the same amount as last year, but still 120*l.* below the income of 1863. Two of the stations have been vacant during the year; otherwise the expenditure would have been in excess of the income.

A sum of 51*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* has been also collected towards the erection of a church at Dresden, for the coloured people in that part of the Rev. T. Hughes's Mission. This is a most necessary work, as Mr. Hughes's letters (which follow) show; and the Committee desire once more to commend it to public notice and support.

The number of Agents employed during the past year (or part of it) was—

The Committee are glad to announce that a suitable Lay Missionary has at length been found to recommence the work in the city of Toronto.

Allusion has been made to the inappropriateness (under altered circumstances) of the present name of the Mission. The Committee propose to resume the title originally adopted, and henceforth to designate it as the DRESDEN.—The Rev. T. Hughes continues at his post. His letters give a faithful picture of the state of the coloured people, and of the difficulties and discouragements that attend ministrations among them. Still he is sustained by evidence of the Divine blessing having accompanied his labours. He thus alludes to a VISIT FROM THE BISHOP FOR CONFIRMATION.

"Oct. 4.—Another quarter of a year, with its mercies and duties, has passed away. The chief matter of interest that I have to record is a visit which this Mission has received from our excellent Bishop. He came for the purpose of holding a confirmation, and was kind enough, at my request, to devote a Sunday to the Mission. He arrived on Saturday, September 3, and returned to London on the following Monday. I cannot express how much I feel my hands strengthened hy his visit. It was indeed a refreshing time, and his Lordship's great kindness in giving so much time to this Mission I shall ever gratefully remember. On Sunday morning he preached an earnest and heart-searching discourse from Acts xxvi. 28, at Dawn Mills Station, and afterwards confirmed eight young persons. In the afternoon he preached in our humhle upper room at Dresden, to my coloured congregation, from Rom. v. 1. After unfolding and illustrating, in the most lucid and simple manner, the great cardinal doctrine of our holy religion, justification hy faith, he dwelt with great force upon the peace with God which flows from it, through our Lord Jesus Christ. At the conclusion of the sermon, I presented thirteen candidates for confirmation—eleven coloured, and two members of my own family. After the ministration of the rite, the Bishop delivered an affectionate and faithful address, calculated, under God, to leave an ahiding impression on their minds. The coloured candidates were mostly grown persons, two only heing under twenty years of age. All of them had heen for a long time under instruction, and their walk and conversation have hcen fully known to me for several years past. One of the young persons was the youth whom I mentioned in my last Report as having applied for haptism. I had, hefore receiving notice of the Bishop's visit, appointed this day to haptize him, and, having informed his Lordship of the matter, he not only desired that the arrangement should not he interfered with, hut performed the rite himself, and then admitted him to confirmation. This youth has heen for a considerahle time past under the influence of deep religious impressions. His knowledge of Divine truth is clear and extensive, and I have every reason to helieve that a real work of grace has heen commenced in his heart. He is a fine, intelligent hoy, and has made great progress in our school, and, should his life he spared, may he of some use to his people. May the Lord preserve him from temptation, and bestow upon him the fulness of His grace, that he may ever remain in the number of God's faithful and elect children, and daily increase in His Holy Spirit more and more, until he come to His everlasting kingdom.

"The Bishop, during his stay, expressed his strong sympathy with me in my work, and his regret that I was obliged to hold service in a room so comfortless, and, in every respect, unsuitable for the purpose of public worship. I still hope and pray that God will stir up the friends of the Mission at home to provide us with the means to erect a small church."

Subsequently Mr. Hughes addressed to the Bishop, on the eve of his Lordship's departure for England, the following

APPEAL FOR THE DRESDEN CHURCH.

"Being aware that it is your intention shortly to visit England, and knowing that you will then be very likely to see many of the chief supporters and friends of the Fugitive Slave Mission, I am sure you will, should the opportunity present itself, most cheerfully grant my request, and bring before them the absolute necessity of this Mission being speedily provided with a small church. The need of one has long been felt, and I have frequently brought this want under the notice of friends at home; but I trust they will excuse me if I again venture, through your Lordship, most earnestly to press it upon their consideration.

"Your Lordship is well acquainted with the almost insuperable difficulties which stand in the way of carrying on any missionary effort among, or of effecting any permanent good for, the fugitives and free coloured people that cruel oppression and persecution have driven to seek a refuge in this province. These difficulties, you are aware, arise partly from causes existing among themselves, such as thoughtless and improvident habits, extreme ignorance, and the pernicious influence of incompetent teachers, but mainly from the degraded position which the African race occupies, through slavery, on this continent, and the deep-rooted prejudices of American society against it. Under these circumstances, it would be in vain to expect great results in a work like this; but I am thankful to say that God has not left me without some cheering tokens of His blessing. It is now just five years since I accompanied the Ven. Archdeacon Hellmuth, then the General Superintendent of the operations of the Colonial and Continental Church Society in British North America, on a visit to this locality, and was shortly afterwards removed from London, and commenced my labours among the poor people here. My duty was to preach the Gospel to all who were willing to hear the joyful sound, but chiefly to labour for the good of the coloured people. At this time the white settlers had no regular means of grace among them, and I thought that probably some would not object to come and listen to the preached Word, which our blessed Lord commanded to be proclaimed to all men alike, in company with their coloured fellow-sinners. Acting under this impression, I applied for the use of the white schoolhouse, the only place in the village at all adapted for public worship. The Trustees informed me that I might have the use of it, but that coloured persons would not be permitted to attend. Of course this amounted practically to a refusal, and I was compelled to hold my services in the room which I had hired to carry on our Mission School, a most inconvenient and unsuitable place for such a purpose, as your Lordship can testify. In this room I have at present two services every week. The congregation is exclusively a coloured one, and, so far as present appearances go, is likely to remain so. At the end of my second year's labour, I formally organized the congregation, and admitted eight coloured persons, whose consistent lives I had every opportunity of observing, to the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and since that time this ordinance has been regularly administered about once in two months. Two of our communicants have been removed by the hand of death, and two more have gone to reside elsewhere, but the number has gradually gone on increasing, and it now amounts to twenty-one. The attendance at our services is uniformly good, quite as many as our room will comfortably hold, and I feel persuaded that, if we only had a church, it would greatly increase. As it is, our accommodation is limited, and the room is so uncomfortable, being excessively hot in the summer, and extremely cold in the winter, that it is to me a matter of surprise that so many come.

"The cost of erecting a decent place of worship here would be, at the very lowest calculation, $1,500; and this sum, I fear, would be barely sufficient for the purpose, as materials and workmanship are fully one-fourth dearer here than in the vicinity of large towns. It will only be possible to collect a mere trifle in the Mission itself. My poor coloured people are willing but totally unable to do much, and but few white settlers would be disposed to lend a helping hand. I feel, therefore, if the work is to be accomplished at all, our friends at home must furnish the necessary funds. To them, my Lord, through you, I again appeal. The sum required is but small, and I cannot think that, when the urgency of the case is fully understood by them, they will suffer the Mission to languish for the want of it."

In the spring of the present year Mr. Hughes sent home an account of what his poor people are themselves doing towards the erection of their church.

LOCAL EFFORTS.

"I have not heard whether the appeal that has been so kindly put out in behalf of a church for the benefit of this Mission is at all likely to be successful. Most sincerely do I hope and pray that it may prove so. The want of a church is every day more and more felt; but my object in the present letter is not so much to plead with our friends at home as to give you an account of what my poor people here are doing in this matter, with which, I think, you will be gratified.

"I mentioned some time ago that the female members of the congregation had formed themselves into a little Society for the purpose of doing what they could towards helping the Church Building Fund. During the last winter they have held regular weekly Meetings, and having invested a small sum of money raised among themselves in the purchase of suitable materials, employed their time at these Meetings in making useful and fancy articles for sale. They laboured most assiduously, and as most of them are very expert with their needles, quite a large and varied assortment of serviceable and ornamental articles were made. One very clever person made a considerable number of bouquets of paper-flowers and tasty baskets of berries, and shells, and other extremely pretty trinkets. I did not see any of these things until they were finished, and I must say I was most agreeably surprised, for though I was aware that she was very clever in many ways, I had no idea that she was equal to the production of such really beautiful ornaments. Some baskets containing flowers were very chaste productions, and evidenced considerable artistic skill and a correct judgment in the arrangement of colours. The money value of the materials of which the different articles were composed was but small, but the time and labour bestowed upon them was great, and I am sure you will be pleased to hear that they were not thrown away. In the Easter week a bazaar was held in the schoolroom for the sale of these things. I must confess that when spoken to about it I was apprehensive of failure, but gave my consent. On the first day comparatively few came, and most of these seemed chiefly to look in as a matter of curiosity. However, they seemed surprised and pleased at what they saw, and the two following afternoons the room was crowded. The result was that every article was sold, and the sum realized, after all expenses were defrayed, was a trifle short of fifty dollars. The whole affair, which was managed entirely by themselves, was conducted throughout with the greatest order and decorum. The amount raised by this effort, added to the little fund towards which they have been regularly contributing for now more than a year, makes altogether very nearly one hundred dollars as the fruits of their self-denying and persevering labours. While the female members of the congregation have been thus exerting themselves the other sex have not been idle. They have got out of the bush between twenty and thirty large logs, and hauled them to the mill to be sawn into rafters, joists, and other timbers for the building. Our woods do not produce pine, so that we shall have to purchase lumber for the pews and other interior work, but what has been done will effect a considerable saving.

"Thus you will perceive that we are doing all that we are able to help ourselves, and if only the means of the people here were equal to their will, our want would soon be supplied, but as it is, all that they can do will go but a small way towards accomplishing the desired end. I have sometimes thought of coming to England myself personally to solicit contributions to our proposed church, but dearly as I should like to visit my native land, I do not think it would be desirable to leave the Mission for so long a time as would be necessary for this purpose, indeed, I have no wish to do so, and really the sum required to build us a suitable house of prayer is so small that it seems a pity to incur such large expenses as a voyage to England involves in order to raise it. I certainly hope, therefore, that the appeal you have sent forth will meet with a generous response. My heart's desire is to be instrumental, under God, in promoting the spiritual and temporal welfare of these illused people. It has pleased God to encourage me with some tokens of success. A small but steady congregation has been collected; not a few amongst them I believe to be sincere disciples of the meek and lowly Jesus, and I cherish the hope that ere long I shall see a church erected, in which they may be able to worship in comfort along with such of their white brethren as may have grace given them to cast aside the God-dishonouring prejudices, which, alas! are now almost universal amongst them."

THE MISSION SCHOOL NEEDED.

"Our school continues to pursue its quiet course of usefulness, and if it does not accomplish all the good that it might, the fault lies with the people themselves. This I can truly say, that the only coloured children and young persons who have obtained anything worthy the name of an education have either passed through, or are at present connected with, our school. I mentioned in my last that all the public separate schools in this district had been closed. None of them have as yet been reopened; the consequence is, that the great majority of coloured children here are growing up in ignorance and neglect. Now and then, a fitful effort is made by the coloured people to supply the deficiency, and an apology for a school is carried on for a few weeks, but it soon breaks down for want of funds. The fact is, these poor people are so split up into rival sects and parties as to render them totally incapable of carrying on any work for their advancement; and if left entirely to themselves, it is evident they must sink rather than rise in the social scale."

CHANGE IN SCHOOL ARRANGEMENTS.

"I have just made an arrangement with respect to our school which I believe will be to its advantage, and I trust will meet with the approbation of your Committee. My son has wished for some time to resign his connexion with the school in order to be able to devote himself to some permanent life employment. You will remember that he only undertook its management because the withdrawal by the Committee of their grant for contingent purposes, such as rent, firing, &c., rendered it necessary to deduct those expenses from the teacher's stipend. For this reduced sum we were unable to retain the services of Mr. Whipper, who so efficiently conducted the school for between two and three years after the death of Miss Williams. He has, since he left the employment of the Society, been teaching the large public coloured school at Windsor, under the superintendence of Mr. Hurst, but his health, which is not strong, necessitated his seeking a smaller school. As our school flourished so well under Mr. Whipper before, I have ventured to engage him again, subject to the approval of the Committee. Mr. Whipper is a teacher of considerable experience, a communicant, member of our Church, holds a second-class certificate from the Board of Education, and brings an excellent testimonial from Mr. Hurst, which speaks highly of his management of the Windsor school."

LATEST REPORT.—ENCOURAGEMENTS.

"April 7.—The quarter that has just closed has not been marked by anything particularly striking. The work of the Mission has gone on in a quiet, and, I trust, satisfactory manner. The past winter has been long and severe; but owing to the abundance of snow the roads have been exceedingly good, so that travelling has been comparatively easy and pleasant. As a consequence, my congregations, both at Dawn Mills and Dresden, have been usually good. The attendance at the Dresden services, both Sunday and week-day, is very steady, and it is a source of no small comfort to me and thankfulness to Almighty God to be able to report that the general conduct and Christian deportment of the regular members of this congregation continue to evidence that the Word preached is not in vain. I believe many of them to be not only anxious about eternal things, but faithful disciples of the Lord Jesus. I speak after having had ample opportunities of becoming acquainted with them. They are quite a superior class of persons, both as regards manners and intelligence. Some few of them are doing comfortably, but some are in very struggling circumstances, and have hard work to maintain their families, but they seldom complain, and never think of begging.

"During the past quarter the Mission has been visited by the Rev. Messrs. Jamieson and Baldwin, the deputation appointed by his Lordship the Bishop to plead the cause of the Church Society in the diocese. These gentlemen stayed over a Sunday with me, and preached at my stations. They expressed themselves highly surprised and delighted with what they saw. The orderly and becoming manner in which the Dresden congregation take their part in the service, so different from the confused and noisy meetings common among coloured people, and the excellent chanting and singing, especially called forth their commendations. On the Monday following they visited the school, when Mr. Baldwin examined the children; after which he said he was totally unprepared to find such advancement made in the various subjects taught. I need not say how delighted I was to receive the visit of these gentlemen. It is so seldom that I have the opportunity and privilege of holding spiritual converse or taking counsel with any of my brethren in the ministry.

"The school has been full through the winter, and I feel persuaded that its state of efficiency would give great satisfaction to your Committee, could it be visited by them. I devote a considerable portion of time to its superintendence, especially to the religious instruction given. The school is, in fact, doing a most useful work, and no small number of young persons who have already passed through it will have good cause through life to thank the Society for its establishment."

WINDSOR.—The Rev. J. Hurst still superintends this important station, which, from various causes, seems becoming more and more a rendezvous of the African race. In a Report recently received, Mr. Hurst gives the following sketch of his work :—

THE SCHOOL.

"During my visits to the school, it is quite plain to me that a gradual improvement is going on in education, in order, and general intelligence. There is a great difference between their education now and ten years ago, when our Mission was first commenced. Then very few could read, but at present nearly all the young people are able to read and write. Some of this improvement must be attributed to our Mission, and perhaps more than we know. I can mention a case in point. During my residence in London I had a Sunday-school, and also evening classes for adults, and among them a man, perhaps thirty years of age, who attended very regularly nearly the whole time. On Saturday last this same man came to my house to ask for Testaments for a Sunday-school, in which he is a teacher, and, I think, one of the managers. At the time I first knew him he could not read, and I taught him on Sabbath afternoons and week evenings, out of the small books published by the Sunday-school Union. The beginning was small, but who shall tell the end? To God be all the praise! There are others around here who came under my instructions at an early period, and are now doing what they can to teach others. The daily schools, as is well known, are the common schools of the country, but I have up to this time had no difficulty in giving religious instruction to the children. I go amongst them, supply them with Testaments and other suitable books, and sometimes give the religious instruction myself. This is about all that one can prudently do, beside giving a few prizes for the encouragement of the children."

THE PARISH.

"In my parochial duties, which are ever increasing, I endeavour not to make any difference between colours, but to visit and speak to them without respect to colour at all. There are already enough distinctions between the races, and we need not add to them in parochial work; but in public ministrations the case is different; there a distinction is, and will be, made. It is necessary to have separate services for each. These I hold as well as I can. Sometimes I preach to them on Sunday afternoons, and sometimes on Wednesday or Thursday evenings. The Wednesday evening services, indeed, were held weekly during the winter and early part of the spring, but when the days lengthened, and gardening operations commenced, the working people could not be gathered. The Sunday afternoon services are better attended, and, I think, much enjoyed. I do not preach with much doubt on my mind that God will bless His Word, and in some cases there is evidence thereof. There is a strong desire on the part of some of them for more distinct organization in schools and services, which, indeed, ought to be gratified as soon as possible. No school succeeds long with them if left to themselves; it requires one to be there every Sunday to superintend it, and at present my duties render that impossible. I hope in time to be able to employ some person to act as a substitute in my absence."

ADVANTAGE OF OUR LITURGY.

"I am persuaded that the constant influence of our system of worship would sober the minds of these people, and that with a little patience and perseverance they would like it. Nothing could be better for them than a liturgical form of worship, as it would enable them to take a part in the service. This is what they want, and will have, in a way not at all times pleasant to the officiating minister."

NEED OF HELP.

"I feel very deeply my inability to reach the work lying before me. Single-handed in a place like this, running continually between the prejudice arising from colour, trying to follow the Divine injunction, 'Be wise as serpents, harmless as doves,' I become more and more alive to the fact that too much work is left undone. I often long for a catechist to labour with me, so that with his help I could keep up regular services and Sunday-schools in each station. I cannot rest until this has been done, and I shall ever watch and pray until God has been pleased to do something of this kind."

CLOTHING.

"A box of clothing which arrived some time ago has been of great use, and has been carefully distributed where the families were large and very poor—sometimes, indeed, almost naked.

"A Mrs. T——, who lately gave birth to twins, had scarcely any clothing for either of them or her other children; these were clothed.

"Mrs. W——, a poor widow, whose house, or, rather, shanty, was very small, and the boards so open that one could see between them, and with a hole through a board for a window, lay sick, and was surrounded by a family of ragged children. Mrs. Hurst clothed both her and the children as far as possible. The poor woman is now recovering, and perhaps warm clothing contributed not a little thereto."

LONDON.—Messrs. Murphy and Logan, the two students of Huron College who had been selected by the Bishop and the Corresponding Committee to act as Scripture-readers to the coloured people in London and its neighbourhood, have pursued their duties faithfully and conscientiously during the past year. From the full Reports they have furnished the following extracts are made:—

"Aug. 2.—About a month ago, some women in the 'Hollow' expressed a desire to be able to read the Testament. I offered to instruct them, and they immediately began at their letters. Now they can read and spell syllables of four letters very nicely, and I think in a short time they will be able to read those precious truths which are revealed to us in the Word of God. I hear them read and spell on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from four to five o'clock. They are very grateful, and express the highest satisfaction that they are doing so well.

"Aug. 25.—Visited a sister of Mr. B——, a person of whom I think it may he said she is indeed an Israelite in whom there is no guile. We conversed for a long time on the justification of the sinner, which they seem to understand, and also on the duties we are called upon to discharge to one another. While speaking on the latter subject, Mrs. B—— noticed the prejudice of the white people against them, her countenance animating, and her eye flashing briskly, as she recounted instances of it, and then in an instant subdued to the utmost gravity, her large eyes rolled up to heaven, she uttered in a slow and solemn voice the following (in her broken manner),—'In the morning when I awake I say, "Glory be to God when all hlack and white folks shall come together, to go to meet the Lord coming in the heaven."' Then she turned to me, and asked if there was any prejudice in that.

"Sept. 11.—This morning I commenced a Sunday-school for the coloured children ahout three miles from the centre of the city. Some years ago there was both a Sunday-school and occasional service at the same place, all of which, please God, I will revive. I spent a deal of time during the fortnight hefore in canvassing for children. There were only five present, three children and two grown persons, but I think the number will rapidly increase.

"Mrs. W——. This aged follower of Christ was very glad to see me. She has travelled a great deal, and has seen much of the world. She now feels that being retired from the hustle of busy life is indeed a comfort, and consequently has taken up her abode in a little dwelling, where she lives alone, I helieve, in closc and sweet communion with her God. She is unahle to read, but she gets a little girl to come and read to her every evening. She appeared to enjoy the conversation, and was very attentive while I read and explained a portion of God's Holy Word. I prayed with her, and exchanged tracts.

"Mr. G——. This venerable soldier of Christ was rejoiced that I should once more visit him in his humble habitation on the hanks of the Thames. He delights all day long to talk of the wondrous goodness of God in enlightening the darkness of his heart. 'Yes,' he says, 'I thank the living God that, though I cannot read, yet, hy the Holy Spirit, He has written these things in my heart.' He listened with profound attention while I read and explained a portion of God's Word. After prayer we parted.

"Sept. 30.—To-night there were present at the class of those learning to read seven women. They are getting on well with their studies, and appear to be well pleased with their improvement. They are also determined to continue at it until they will be ahle to read the Testament well. I may also add that somc of them even now are trying to read the Testament, and succeed in making out a good many verses, and the joy and gratitude which they express on account of this is great encouragement to us to continue our effort with the class.

"Oct. 2.—In the 'Hollow' I got a Bihle-class to-day of about twelve girls, aged from twelve to sixteen. They appear to be very anxious to learn the Divine will of our Heavenly Master. I find they have not read much of the Bible, but they are willing to read and learn it. On this account I told them to try and see how much of it they could learn by Christmas, and that I would give a Bible as a first prize, and a Testament as a second prize. This they willingly undertook; and thus I hope that I shall be able to train a class in the way of truth, and a class which, in their turn, will be able to teach others those sacred truths which are so precious and dear to the heart of every true Christian.

"Oct. 9.—My Bible-class in the 'Hollow' turned out very well to-day. They appeared to have worked very hard at their verses during the week. Some of them had twelve verses, and some of them as high as forty-six. These verses I must say they learned well; it was no half-work. The girl who had forty-six never missed even a single word. They were all cheerful, their eyes were bright, and they appeared to be well pleased.

"Oct. 22.—To-day we visited Mrs. H——. In the report of our first visit we spoke very highly of these people, and our second visit has only confirmed our first impressions, viz., that this is a household living in the love and fear of the Lord. On account of being feeble, having a young family, and living at a distance, she is able but seldom to go to church, and is rejoiced at the thought of the service we contemplate opening, with the assistance of our Heavenly Father.

"Oct. 24.—Mrs. C—— is an aged woman, as was stated before, living with her son, whose only care is to support her. She rejoices in being of those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life. Although the life must be drawing to a close, yet she has determined with the help of God to learn to read His precious Word. It is a comfort to teach such, and our work, while we are thus encouraged, will be pleasant. We read and prayed with her, exchanging tracts also.

"Nov. 6.—Our Sunday-school, though increasing slowly in number, is still progressing, and the attention of learners can scarcely be surpassed. We have now three very nice classes; a fellow-student and Mr. Stephenson assist me by taking a class each.

"Dec. 11.—To-day I attended my Bible-class. They have worked well in studying the Scriptures since I undertook the class, with the exception of two or three, who did not attend regularly. In the class there were twelve in all. After hearing them recite their verses on Sunday, I gave the prizes to those who laboured most diligently to earn them. I then encouraged them to continue to study the Scriptures, as they showed us the way of salvation which God had procured for us by the death and sacrifice of His dear Son our Saviour Jesus Christ.

"Dec. 12.—I attended my reading class. They have made good progress in learning to read the Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Some of them, old women of fifty or sixty, have succeeded so well as to be able to read very intelligibly, with the exception of proper names.

"Besides our general work, visiting and teaching, we have had a service almost every Sunday during the quarter. At first very few attended, but now more than can be comfortably seated. The house is rather small, so that a change is necessary; and as we have, through our beloved friend Archdeacon Hellmuth, applied to the Society for aid, we trust we shall soon be enabled to take steps that will provide for a greater number coming to join in the worship of God. Along with reading the service, we invariably expound a portion of Scripture.

"In connexion with this service we have a Sunday-school, and, under the blessing of God, who never fails to reward those who humbly seek with His Divine help to do His will, it has prospered. If I remember well, five or six first came, and the number has slowly but steadily increased ever since, and now no less than twenty-six are earnestly seeking to learn of God, and of His Son Jesus Christ; and it is very probable they will continue to increase, for many neglect the privileges they have of having their children instructed in that which of all things is most valuable, viz., the way of life, and I think, too, on account of not being stirred up. We can now cast our eyes on numerous instances in which good has been done by us in the hands of our Heavenly Father.

"Our report of visits during the quarter is not so large as usual for this reason,—We have a Bible-class in one part of the city, which we attend once a-week; and, in another part, we have a Sunday-school, and service once a-week. These, in connexion with our reading class, which we held, part of the time, three times a-week, and part of it twice a-week, have kept us pretty well occupied. In all of our works it has been our aim to set before them the love of Christ, and to show them that we must look to Him as the only Saviour, for 'there is no other name under heaven given unto men whereby we must be saved.'"

II. Diocese of Toronto.

TORONTO.—Allusion has been already made to Mr. Hoskin's appointment as Lay Reader to the coloured population of this city. The Committee trust that he may be blessed and encouraged in his work, as his predecessor, Mr. Ormerod, was,—"a name," he has already found, "beloved by the poor of all creeds and colour." The following are extracts from Mr. Hoskin's first Report:—

STATISTICS.

"The number of the coloured population of this city I have been at considerable labour to ascertain by personal application to the proper authorities and sources, but regret to add that, owing to the indiscriminate entries of their names upon the city rolls, it is impossible to ascertain the definite number. It is computed, however, the number cannot be less than 1,000. These are scattered over the different wards of this large city, and at the very extreme boundaries in many instances, which I have endeavoured faithfully to visit. Beyond city limits, too, small groups are found at different points, towards which, as far as opportunities have allowed, I have endeavoured to act similarly. This imposes upon me a large amount of travelling."

SUMMARY OF WORK.

"During the past quarter I have paid to the whites 103 visits; coloured, 154; House of Industry, 15; hospital, 25; gaol, 9. Sunday services, both at the gaol and hospital, have been as regular as pre-existent arrangements would allow. Coloured class met for instruction in learning to read (just formed) three times; tracts distributed, 300; cases reported for baptism to clergymen, and accordingly baptized, 6."

A BRAND PLUCKED FROM THE BURNING.

"It is with gratitude to God that I record I hope my labours have not been altogether in vain. Among several cases I would mention that of A. B., a coloured youth of early manhood. It would be difficult to convey a sufficiently impressive idea of the deplorable condition in which I found him at first; he was ragged, dirty, homeless, destitute, nearly friendless, and subject to many cruelties, and near the gate of death, dying, too, in all probability, of the sins of his youth, which God permitted him to possess largely. His spiritual condition was no less affecting—godless, prayerless, careless, desperate. It was his misfortune in early life to lose his mother, his greater misfortune to know that his father, who at a certain period acted as an Ambassador of God to rebel men, should so far recede as to become guilty of very scandalous immoralities, emigrate and leave to the cold stinted charities of a selfish world this then young lad. After repeated visits he promised me he would try and pray; for a season this promise, I have reason to believe, was faithfully kept, and my mind was cheered. At this juncture a Revival spread to that denomination to which his religious preferences inclined him. There were not wanting those who affected feelings of solicitude for his spiritual welfare, by whom he was persuaded to attend 'the Meetings'; be it sufficient to say he attended as often as his now tottering steps could convey him, and I regret to record very much to his discouragement, and, I fear, his spiritual injury generally. His subsequent state was, to my mind, very distressing, evidently near eternity, despairing of salvation, scarcely desiring it. From this he resorted to the adoption and use of very ingenious modes of shunning me when I would be coming to visit him, so that for weeks I could not manage to see him; but again the Spirit of God visited him, and brought this young man to repentance. Next he laboured to believe in the Saviour, and here he grieved over his heart of unbelief; more than once do I remember his looks of serious distress as he exclaimed to me, 'Oh, that I could believe!' 'Lord help me!' and God answered his prayer. I found the teaching of the so-called 'Protracted Meeting' was very incomplete, all were to expect instantaneous manifestations of pardoning mercy, constraining to violent physical excitement, and unless such were felt there was no conversion; so our subject expected, nothing else was satisfactory. He was slow to learn 'his going forth is prepared as the morning,' but he experienced both the twilight and splendour of pardon and peace; he was commendably careful in speaking of himself. With divine comfort and the love of God came an earnest desire to receive the rite of Christian baptism. There was no opportunity for preparatory catechising, but the manner in which he replied to the searching interrogations, forming so admirable and proper a part of the service for adults, was very satisfactory to the clergyman officiating as well as to all present. The ceremony being ended, he very touchingly expressed his thanks to the clergyman for his kind services. He then remembered those whose unkindness towards himself at an earlier stage of his sickness he so keenly felt; requested reconciliation; asked in kindness to be shown his wrongs, if guilty of any; requested pardon; and spoke of the Saviour's love to himself as a sinner, and of his hope of soon being with Him in heaven; he lingered only a day or two after this, and then departed in great peace. I regard A. B., as do all others acquainted with him, as being a brand plucked from the burning."

BIBLE-CLASS.

"I am regularly meeting a small class of coloured females for instruction in reading. At the commencement they were incapable of reading altogether, but I have hopes that if persevered in and blessed of God, by the winter each member will be enabled to read God's Word."

IMPORTANCE OF THE WORK.

"Many receive no other religious visits than are paid by your agent; visits are also solicited by members of other denominations on behalf of their afflicted as well as erring friends, and many are expressing a desire for a clergyman of our Church."

BARRIE.—The Rev. E. Morgan thus reports:—

"I am obliged to speak still unfavourably of the condition of the coloured people, as a whole, in my Mission. Whilst there are some exceptions, the greater number are not doing well. There is much poverty and distress. On my last visit, about ten days ago, I found that two or three more families would soon have to relinquish their lots of land to the mortgagees, to whom they are largely indebted; and they purpose, I believe, to remove to a place, called Chatham, near the Lake St. Clair. Some have already gone there, and, I believe, are doing better. In our town, Barrie, on Lake Simcoe, a few reside. They do pretty well; but, generally speaking, these people lack energy and perseverance. The wife of the good old blind man, so frequently mentioned in my previous Reports, died a few days ago. She had been confined to her bed for many weeks; frequently suffering great pain, and patiently.

I visited her, and read and prayed with her, and she expressed hope and confidence in the Saviour's love; but the state of her mind was by no means as happy as that of her blind husband. He was, I truly believe, a Christian. I did not inter her remains, being at the time of her death on a missionary tour, some fifty miles from home, with one or two other clergymen, and two laymen, addressing the various congregations, as we do annually about this time.

"Several coloured persons have moved from the country into the town; and, I am thankful to be able to say, they are, generally speaking, doing well. One poor old woman, with two fatherless and motherless grandchildren, I have had it in my power to assist; and it is pleasing to see her simple trust in the Lord's promises. She and one of her grandsons suffer much from an asthmatic affection. Having a little knowledge of medicine, I have been able to afford them both relief in this way also; for which she is most grateful. I have just now under my care a young man threatened with affection of the lungs. I hope, with God's blessing on the medicines I am giving him, to restore him to health, and, at the same time, to induce him to seek deliverance, at the hands of the Great Physician, from the disease of sin. He is the son of a person who was most opposed to my visiting the coloured people, because I was a clergyman of the Church of England. In casting my bread on the waters, I feel assured that, in God's good time, though it may be only in eternity, I shall find it."

CONCLUSION.

The Committee cannot but hope that the above extracts will be read with interest, and with the conviction that God has opened a wide door of usefulness, and is owning and blessing the labours of His faithful servants. And if such be the result of a perusal of the Report, the Committee feel satisfied that they will not be left by their friends unsustained in the work in which they have been now for so many years engaged, and in which, with God's help, they are determined still to persevere. The one wish of the Committee is, greatly to increase the agency now employed: their one prayer, that it will please the Lord to grant such success to the efforts made, that multitudes of their coloured brethren shall be brought, as willing bond-slaves, to the feet of Jesus, to taste of that glorious liberty wherewith Christ makes His people free.
